Protect Your Water Supply
Communicate with Customers
Become Compliant

PAWSC offers a Cross-Connection Control (CCC) Administration Program for utility, municipal, and privately owned water distribution systems to support enforcement of their cross-connection control programs. Ours is a complete start-to-finish outsourced solution— from sending compliance notices to tracking final compliance results. This program is ideal for water service providers who wish to maintain an effective cross-connection control program for their system to protect their customers and water supply, but are not equipped to handle all aspects of the process themselves.
Our Cross-Connection Control Program Offers:

Ordinance/Policy Development

If you do not already have an effective cross-connection control ordinance, policy, or program, we can work with you to develop one that works best for your system. This is the first step towards proper cross-connection control enforcement.

Public Education

Cross-connection control is important but very few people really understand why. We provide educational material for water consumers on the dangers of inadequate cross-connection control and the importance of becoming compliant with cross-connection control laws.

Survey to Identify Cross-Connections

One of the first steps in enforcing a program is to determine where real or potential hazardous cross-connections exist. We will identify who should have proper backflow prevention devices installed and begin to notify them of the need (and importance) of compliance with the law.

Compliance Notification Mailings

We have an established mailing process that is designed to handle all CCC compliance mailings up to shut-off posting for non-compliance. We will work with you to create the most appropriate compliance notices for your system. Once the designs are set, you can leave the printing, mailing, and postage up to us.

Tracking Compliance Results

Using cross-connection control specific software, we keep track of your water system's compliance program year after year. This allows us to provide you with the most up-to-date and thorough compliance information for your water system down to the individual customer level.
